FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

AMERICAN GROUP PSYCHOTHERAPY ASSOCIATION ANNOUNCES PARTNERSHIP WITH THERAPYSITES TO OFFER WEBSITE AND ONLINE MARKETING SOLUTIONS FOR MENTAL HEALTH PROFESSIONALS

NEW YORK, March 25, 2010 — The American Group Psychotherapy Association (AGPA) announced it has partnered with TherapySites to offer website and online marketing solutions for mental health professionals. TherapySites specializes in creating websites for therapists that are professional, affordable, and effective.

TherapySites offers a solution for therapists who want to successfully market and manage their practice online, but who may not have the resources for a custom website. There are no set-up or design charges, just an all-inclusive monthly fee. TherapySites integrates professional website design, hosting and content that is HIPAA compliant with a variety of tools to manage your site and practice including:

- Search Engine Optimization
- Integrated email
- Editing tools
- Client management tools
- Credit card processing
- Online appointment notifications
- Unlimited technical and customer support

“We’re very excited about this new partnership with TherapySites,” said Marsha S. Block, CAE, CFRE, AGPA Chief Executive Officer. “It provides an affordable option for therapists who want to market their practice on the web but lacked the resources and expertise to invest in and maintain their own website.”

Therapists can get started today with their new website by visiting TherapySites. As an added benefit, therapists can provide the promotional code of “AGPA” to receive one month free.

For more information please visit TherapySites or contact Diane Feirman, CAE, at 877-668-AGPA (2472) or via e-mail at dfeirman@agpa.org.

About AGPA

The American Group Psychotherapy Association is the foremost professional association dedicated to the field of group psychotherapy, operating through a tri-partite structure: AGPA, a professional and educational organization; the Group Psychotherapy Foundation, its philanthropic arm; and the National Registry of Certified Group Psychotherapists, a standard setting and certifying body. This multidisciplinary association has over 2,000 members, including psychiatrists, psychologists, social workers, nurses, clinical mental health counselors, marriage and family therapists, pastoral counselors and creative arts therapists, many of whom have been recognized as specialists through the Certified Group Psychotherapist credential. The association has 31 local and regional societies located across the country. Its members are experienced mental health professionals who lead psychotherapy groups and various non-clinical groups. Many are organizational specialists who work with businesses, not-for-profit organizations, communities and other "natural" groups to help them improve their functioning.
